You have asked whether there is a summary available online showing the numbers of individual properties in each rating area group, which also includes the Land and Capital value totals for the various groups. And instructions as to how to locate such information on the website.

The search function on the Hamilton City Council website only provides for searches of individual properties, as such there are no instructions that we can provide that will allow an aggregated or tailored search of rating areas/groups.

Request message

Good afternoon.

I have endeavoured to find on the website, information about the number of current ratepayers in Hamilton City. I thought there might be a map which would show the boundaries of each property, together with the rating value assessment numbers. My initial search only enables me to locate individual properties, but I am interested in obtaining a city wide view of the properties. Is there a summary available online showing the numbers of individual properties in each rating area group, which also includes the Land and Capital value totals for the various groups?

Instructions as to how I might locate such information on the website would be appreciated.

Regards

KEY
